Bobbie's Essay On Love.

Love is the beginning of marriage if the beginning aint munny, love is what makes the world go round and it keeps goin around un till ye git in a flatland have to live there without no steam. When ye cant eet maybe ye are in love and maybe ye have a weak stumick, ye cant always tell the diferns. I hope when i gro up wont be in lover very often, its all rite to be in love with somebody and sumtimes 2 or 3 girls at the same time and that is pretty nice till the catch on then there is trouble about it.

sum grate people who have been in love are Mark Antony and Cleopatra, and Lillian Russell lots of times and Venis and Adonis he had lots of scenes and he said to her Well ye look pritty goo to me but i only git a small salary and if i marry you i am afraid i'll haft to quit smooking and drinking so i gess better call it off. Venis she felt cheap so she went and married a undertaker and they buried Adonis when he got will by a wild bore and didnt send his folks no bill.

love is of different kinds, for instans, i love my teacher and thats all rite but if Pa loved my teacher there would be somethin doing at hoam. I dont love no gurl, most of them is too much stuck on themselves to have anyone lone them. i love my dog best of all, when you love a gurl ye git married, and when ye love your dog you only git fleas.

CARDUI BABIES

Many homes are mere lonely abodes because no children are there. Barrenness exists in almost every case because female diseases have paralyzed the organs of womanhood.

Wine of Cardui imparts health and strength to the diseased parts and makes motherhood possible in thousands of cases where barrenness is supposed to be incurable. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and also prevents miscarriage and cures bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui removes the cause of barrenness by making the female organism strong and healthy.

Go to your druggist and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui. The use of Wine of Cardui will bring happiness to your home.

My daughter-in-law, Lizzie Giles, found great benefit in Wine of Cardui. She had a miscarriage in March 1901, before using your medicine. She was in very bad health, so I persuaded her to try Wine of Cardui. Since then she has had a fine baby boy. Soon he will be three weeks old. She highly recommends Wine of Cardui.

My daughter, Fannie Hudson, also has a fine baby boy by your treatment. She highly appreciates Wine of Cardui.

A BABY RAISING SCHEME

Prizes to Be Offered for Infants That Survive Twelve Months

Huddersfield, the most progressive of Yorkshire manufacturing towns, in England, is going in for a form of municipal enterprise which is certainly unique in Great Britain—baby raising. Instead of wasting regrets over the increasing number of babies that fail to get born, as most Anglo-Saxon communities are doing here and in America, the local government intends devoting its energies to keeping alive and making healthy the babies that do succeed in gaining entrance into the world. No time is to be lost in putting in practice the scheme they have evolved.

It is to the mayor of Huddersfield, Alderman Benjamin Broadbent, that the world is indebted for this latest and most advanced conception of civic duty. He is a brother of the king's physician, Sir William Broadbent, and no doubt has profited by his kinsman's advice on the subject. He started the campaign against the high rate of infant mortality by offering a reward of $20 for every child born in his district that survived twelve months. This opened the eyes of the other town authorities to the possibilities of successful child-rearing as a means of adding to the wealth and prosperity of the city. A live, healthy child, they argued, has infinite possibilities before it; a dead one simply represents a loss to the entire community.

Taking this view of the matter, it was resolved that special attention should be paid to inducing poor parents to take better care of their little ones and that means should be provided where necessary, for relieving them of part of that task, the municipality playing the role of a beneficent foster mother. According to the scheme which has just been adopted, a payment of 25 cents is to be made to the first person who shall notify the birth of a child to the medical officer within 48 hours of the event. Then the machinery is to be set in motion which will give the little stranger the best chance of surviving and waxing strong and vigorous.

The medical officer will send to the mother printed directions as to the best methods of raising babies. Feminine health visitors, specially appointed for the purpose, will call at each house in the poor districts where births are reported, and supplement the advice thus given with practical instruction. They will make frequent calls to see that the babies are receiving proper care. Pure milk will be supplied by the municipality.

But perhaps the most important feature of the scheme is to be the establishment of a day nursery, where the babies of mothers who have to work in the mills or elsewhere will receive the best of attention and the most wholesome food. For twelve months this will be experimental, but if the results in any way approximate the sanguine expectations of the advocates of this new civic departure, proposals are to be submitted for making municipal day nurseries permanent institutions in Huddersfield.

Dialect Poems.

We are in receipt of a little book of dialect poems, entitled "The Norsk Nightingale," being the lyrics of a "Lumberjack," by one William Kirk. The book is a small affair, consisting of only 66 pages, yet throughout, it has an interest and charm that makes up in quality what it lacks in size. The poems are divided by the author into three classes, the first part of the book is made up of 10 poems and are called "His Lyrics," the second part consists of nine poems under the head of "His Historical Tales," and the final part are "His Poetical Translations." To one unfamiliar with Norsk dialect the perusal of the book is at first hard, and requires some effort to get at the thought, but if the reader will persevere, by the time he has read five or six of the poems he becomes better acquainted with the style, and the words begin to put on meaning, and he gradually sees the beauty and originality of them. In another part of the paper we print a short poem entitled "Tillie Otson," which is perhaps a fair sample of the author's work.

Weak Stomach.

A weak stomach is most frequently caused by the overworked and exhausted nervous system.

The power that runs the stomach is the nerve force sent to it from the brain through the nerves. When the nerves are weak or exhausted the supply of energy is insufficient and the action of the stomach is impaired, and results in imperfect digestion—dyspepsia.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine increases nerve force. It strengthens and builds up nerve tissue, gives vigor to the nerves and muscles of the stomach; this produces a healthy activity.

Nervine allays the inflammation, heals the membranes, and makes the stomach strong and healthy. There is nothing that so quickly gives energy to the whole system as Restorative Nervine.

"I can't say enough for Dr. Miles' Nervine. I don't know what it will do for others, but it certainly cured me of stomach trouble, and now I am as well as I ever was. Two physicians failed to relieve me, but in three or four days after taking Nervine I was much relieved. Four bottles made me a sound man, at the cost of $4.00."
